The Folding Screen “Scenes Along the Shijo Riverbank” in the Grassi Museum of Ethnology, Leipzig

Monday, 2 December, 2019, 6:15 pm
CATS, Voßstr. 2, Building 4400, R. 400.02.12

Japanese artworks in overseas collections have played a significant role as Japanese cultural ambassadors outside of Japan. In this lecture, I will introduce the fascination of overseas collections of Japanese art, focusing on the folding screen “Scenes Along the Shijo Riverbank” in the Grassi Museum of Ethnology, Leipzig, one of the most important works of genre painting of the Edo period.

EMURA Tomoko
is historian of Japanese painting and head of the Archive section at the Tokyo National Research Institute for Cultural Properties.